Eulogies Pronounced from Many Pulpits—The Funeral Procession Viewed by Vast Crowds—Many Pathetic Incidents.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—A mournful city, a grief-stricken people, today showed honor to the man who fell while battling for what he believed to be right. Henry George, apostle of the single tax, leader of the Jefferson Democracy, was honored as no private citizen of America was ever honored before.

Public griefs have been many in the great metropolis of the Western Hemisphere, many have been sincerely mourned, but none save him who went to eternal rest after having served his people as a leader of soldiers and as chief executive of the land, had laid at his bier such evidences of public grief, widespread sorrow and sincere regret as was laid at the bier of Henry George. No one would permit a reminder that he had been a candidate for public office, and had been carrying on a bitter warfare on those he believed were enemies of the public weal; no one recalled the strong words of denunciation that fell from his lips while on the political rostrum. He was remembered only as a man who so loved the people that he gave his life for them.

From dawn of day far into the night the outward manifestation of grief lasted; thousands gazed upon the familiar beloved features, cold in death, yet smiling serenely as in sleep; other thousands heard stirring orations, magnificent eulogies upon the martyr dead. In every temple of God wherever men gathered to worship, or gathered to hear lectures and philosophy taught, garlands of praise were bestowed upon the memory of the revered dead.

In the vast auditorium where the dead rested, inspired men, teachers of all faiths, Jews, Christians, Catholics and Episcopalians, with hearts wrung with pain, spoke words which confessedly fell far short of the great waves of emotion that sought to find utterance.

Not a dissenting voice was heard to the declaration that Henry George was a lover of the people, who he believed were being oppressed, and that he gave his life that humanity might live. The eulogies uttered, the day gone, the streets became filled with people who wished to see the funeral cortege as it passed in silent procession down New York's greatest streets, thence across Brooklyn bridge and through Brooklyn's streets to the Brooklyn City Hall.

There the public gave over the body to the family, and the casket was taken to the modest home in Fort Hamilton, from which it will be borne to its final resting place in Greenwood Cemetery tomorrow morning.

At the lowest estimate 125,000 people saw the casket as it wended its way to that point where the public was compelled to stand aside in reverence and sympathy, while the family claimed its own.

LYING IN STATE.

Countless Thousands View Their Dead Hero's Remains.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The body of Henry George lay in state today in the Grand Central Palace, and 30,000 persons reverently passed the casket and looked upon the face of the dead philosopher. From 9 o'clock in the morning till 3 o'clock in the afternoon a stream of men, women and children poured into the hall. The immense throng was composed of representatives of all classes, of all shades of life and of all religious opinions. On every face was stamped the unmistakable signs of sincere regret while hundreds of faces were drawn with suffering and pain. To thousands of those who passed by, Henry George was personally known, and it was these who lingered for a longer moment to gaze again on the face of the man whom for them to know was to love. Some of them wept. The children, of whom there were hundreds, were raised along the guard, and held up while they gazed at the features of the man who died fighting to brighten their lives.

In the early dawn the body was moved in a plain hearse from the Union Square Hotel to the Grand Central Palace, unattended save by the guards of honor and four policemen. Behind the hearse came a single carriage, carrying Anna George, the youngest daughter, who insisted upon accompanying the body to the Grand Central Palace. No persuasion could sway her from her purpose.

Weeping bitterly, she stood at the head of the state at the hotel, and begged to be permitted to go. She wished to arrange the flowers upon the casket in which her father's remains reposed. Flung upon her in vain, and she became importunate and refused to permit the body to be taken away unless she accompanied it. The other members of the family, their grief emphasized by the child's utter abandonment of anguish, yielded, and Richard George, her brother, accompanied her to the place. There she arranged the flowers as she would have them, and permitted no one to lend the slightest aid. ## A BOLD PLAN.

Filibustering Scheme in Alaska.

Stars and Stripes to be Raised at Dawson City.

Gold Fields to be Declared to be American Soil.

Marital Law to be Enacted and the Canadian Reserve Claims Worked for All They Are Worth. Petty Conspirators.

[BY THE TIMES SPECIAL WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—[Special Dispatch.] Special correspondence of the Sun from Juneau, Alaska, dated October 21, says: "In the same mail in which this letter goes there will go to Atty.-Gen. McKenna at Washington warning of a wild-cat filibustering scheme which, for daring, can be likened only to Jameson's raid in the Transvaal. It is nothing less than a plan to seize Dawson City in the name of the United States, and open up reserve claims for immediate operation."

"The story comes here from United States Commissioner Smith at Dyea, and it has general belief at that place. The United States Marshal has considered it of sufficient importance to notify the Washington authorities at once."

"Jones of Port Townsend a newspaper man who was the first man appointed United States Commissioner at St. Michaels and J. J. Rutledge, United States Deputy Marshal at Circle City, are said to be the chief filibusters. Jones did not go to St. Michaels at once on his appointment, and it was said he had resigned. So Shepard of Nebraska was appointed in his place. Both Jones and Rutledge are venturesome fellows, quite capable of conceiving and trying to carry out such a scheme."

"It is alleged that Jones and Rutledge propose, after all communication is cut off for the winter, to go to Dawson and formally host the Stars and Stripes, declaring all the gold fields are on United States soil and therefore open for entry. They rely on the hearty support of 5000 American miners to overawe a few British mounted police and to defeat them if it comes to a question of fighting. They mean to declare martial law, with themselves as commanders, and their gang of filibusters as officials, and no one will be allowed to leave for the coast. If by chance any one does get away, they argue, it will be impossible for either government to get troops into the Klondike before next May or June."

"In the mean time all claims now reserved for the crown will be located and worked to their full capacity. In this way millions of dollars' worth of dust will be taken out and secured before either government can raise a hand to prevent it. It is insisted that no harm can come to any one, inasmuch as the real boundary line is in dispute and unknown, and that American citizens have the same right to

Henry George, Died October 29, 1897.

At the back of the platform, on a heavy crepe background, was a portrait of Henry George, surrounded with American flags. At the front of the platform stood a bust of the dead man modeled by his son Richard. At the foot of the pedestal on which the bust stood were numerous floral tributes, including a cross, from one arm of which hung a wreath of white and pink roses from Mr. and Mrs. Tom Briggs, and a wreath of immortelle from the father and the generous friend.

The casket itself was devoid of any ornament save the heavy silver handles and the plate, which read: HENRY GEORGE, Died October 29, 1897.

The crowd came down the avenue five deep and passed through the hall in two; those who went to the left proceeded down a short flight of stairs into Dewey place.

In the rear of the hall were Arthur McEwen, Lewis F. Post, Dan Beard, H. Martin Williams, Cecil R. Atkinson, W. J. Atkinson and Joseph Dana Miller.

Of the ushers and guard of honor Philadelphia sent: W. H. Keegan, Edwin Ross, L. Ross, W. A. Wright, Drs. Solis, Chas. G. Frank Stephens, W. H. Tawressy, Herman W. Helset, Frank McNulty, William D. Kelly, Arthur H. Stephenson, William Brice, Samuel Miliken, Rev. Dr. J. H. Ames, W. D. Callingham, Carson Daventport, Henry C. Lippincott and Isaac Feinberg.

Jersey City: Theodore Werner, L. H. Hunter and James McGregor.

Chicago: John S. White.

Delaware: Albert Roberts, Joseph Brothers, George Carpenter and Harold Sudell.

THE FUNERAL.

Eloquent Words Spoken Over the Dead Seer's Remains.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Before 3 o'clock the people were permitted to occupy the seats in the hall. The front six rows in the main part of the auditorium were reserved for the family, the immediate friends of the deceased, the pall-bearers and the ushers. All the rest of the main floor was open to the crowd, and it took but a short time to fill the hall. The platform, of course, was reserved, and the galleries, which hold a comparatively small number, were likewise reserved for the holders of tickets.

It was said to have been the intention at first not to have any policemen in the hall at all, but a large number of uniformed policemen were present. Every seat was taken, and in certain portions a considerable number of persons were permitted to stand. It is

FROM THE FRIGID NORTH.

Steamer Lakme Arrives at Tacoma from St. Michaels. [ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] TACOMA (Wash.) Oct. 31.—The steam schooner Lakme, Capt. Anderson, arrived at Tacoma last night direct from St. Michaels and Dutch Harbor. She left St. Michaels October 14, three days before the steamer Portland, that arrived on the sound last week, and therefore brings no advices as late as those brought by the Portland. The Lakme left Dutch Harbor October 21. She brought no gold, passengers or freight southward. Master Carlson of the Lakme confirms the report that the river steamers have gone to their winter quarters on the Yukon. The last of the steamers to seek the rendezvous left St. Michaels while the Lakme was there.

"No snow was on the ground in the immediate vicinity of St. Michaels when she left there," says the master, "but the weather was gradually getting colder. Disagreeable northeast gales swept over the place, and during the thirteen days we were there discharging cargo, we were compelled to put out to sea several times as far as Egg Island, fifteen miles distant, to seek shelter behind the island, or stand away from the inhospitable shores and shallows near shore."

TELEGRAPH PROJECT.

Canadian Government May String Wires to Klondike.

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Oct. 31.—Charles R. Hosmer, general manager of the Pacific Postal Telegraph system, today said regarding telegraph communication with Klondike that he understood that the Dominion government had this matter under consideration. There were no insurmountable difficulties in the way, either in the construction or maintenance of a telegraph line via Ashcroft and Quesnell, which was the route adopted in 1886 for connecting Asia and America via the Bering Sea. This route passes through the present Klondike region. A line connecting Quesnell, the northernmost point in British Columbia reached by telegraph, and Dawson City, if decided upon within a few months, could be put in operation by this time next year. Stations can be established every forty miles and they would be used in connection with the mounted police and other departments.

Mr. Hosmer leaves for Victoria this evening and will proceed thence to San Francisco.

Dogs for the Klondike.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 31.—There arrived here last night for a Chicago over the Northern Pacific railroad 200 dogs, which are to be used in hauling provisions into the Yukon gold fields.

AN ABANDONED HOLE.

Trains no Longer Pass Through the Busk-Ivanhoe Tunnel.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] DENVER, Oct. 31.—With the passage of the Colorado Midland train, en route from Ogden to Denver tonight, the Busk-Ivanhoe tunnel will be abandoned. This great bore is two miles long, piercing the main chain of the Rocky Mountains, and cost $125,000. A gang of men was put to work immediately after the

are I know nothing whatever about them. Mr. Cornish, the master in chancery, who is to auction off the land, is the only man who knows just how many bids are to be made, and I know that he will not discuss the matter. He is an officer of the court, and it would not be just the proper thing for him to do.

While Mr. Millar disclaimed all knowledge regarding the prospective rivals to the Reorganization Committee for the possession of the United Pacific, it was evident from his manner that he was quite sure that the committee would have no competitors. Regarding the future of the road after it has passed into the hands of the Reorganization Committee, Mr. Millar said: "The actual turning over of the property to the purchaser will be at some time in the future, depending very largely upon who is the purchaser. It will, of course, be out of the question for the purchaser to buy the road at 11 o'clock to assume control at noon. It will be simply a matter of convenience for the purchaser. I have no doubt that the roads have been bought by reorganization committees and these committees have not been entirely prepared to assume control of the road just at the instant, the receivers have been allowed to run the road for two or three months, of course under the direction of the receiver, but the purchaser has had most all things ready they took hold and managed the property themselves. Now, if the Reorganization Committee is to take the road, and Mr. Millar, smiling at a contented smile, "that is what it will do. The receiver will handle the road until the committee is ready to take it, and the committee will be the purchaser," and again Mr. Millar smiled happily, "is ready to assume formal control of the road."

All of the members of the Reorganization Committee, repeated substantially the interview of Mr. Millar.

NO FRAUD INTENDED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] KANSAS CITY (Mo.), Oct. 31.—Gen. Louis Fitzgerald of New York, attorney for the trustees of the Reorganization Committee of the Union Pacific, Secretary Keck and Attorney Rossington and C. B. Smith, Toledo, representing the same interests, left late last night for Omaha to be present at the sale of the road.

Mr. Rossington, before leaving, said: "I do not know whether the sale will come off Monday or not, but I can see no reason why it should not. We are not here to represent the Reorganization Committee and its members, but the public interest, and we are here to see that the road will be sold. There has been considerable fuss and talk about this sale of the Union Pacific, but really there is not a great deal of smoke and very little fire. I do not know of any one who is planning to defraud the government."

REQUEST FOR POSTPONEMENT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] LONDON, Oct. 31.—The firm of Coates, Son & Co., who recently undertook the formation of a syndicate for the purchase of the Union Pacific Railway line, and the Kansas division of the main line and the Kansas division of the government claims on the main line and the Kansas division of the government claims on the main line, yesterday sent a cable message to President McKinley, suggesting that the United States should secure the postponement of the sale until December 15.

HIRSCHFELDER'S CURE.

DR. J. MOUNT BLEYER CALLS IT A NOXIOUS NOSTRUM.

The alleged consumption remedy discovered by a prominent New York physician—the serum is simply fifth.

BY THE TIMES SPECIAL WIRE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—[Special Dispatch.] Dr. Hirschfelder's remedy is not entirely accepted here, or at least his formula as published has been the subject of criticism. Dr. J. Mount Bleyer, a physician of considerable reputation in this city, yesterday sent a long letter to the Sun, in which he says:

"I read a dispatch from San Francisco giving a formula of an alleged discovery by Dr. Hirschfelder of a remedy he calls oxyterculin, with which he asserts has cured several cases of consumption. For the credit of the profession and the interests of humanity, I feel constrained to take up the cudgels and denounce such statements. An infant in chemistry can have nothing but a poison for any man, calling himself a physician, who sends to foist such a formula on the profession and ask it to believe he is earnest in his assertions.

"What an absurd and unscientific statement! The very principles upon which he bases his discovery, and its chemical analysis, are in violation of the laws from beginning to end. When peroxide of hydrogen comes in contact with any albuminous matter it undergoes an instantaneous change, and so does the material. Oxygen does its work at once and evaporates. Its usefulness being ended, it is necessary to keep peroxide of hydrogen in a cool place, preferably on ice, to maintain its uniform integrity. Therefore any novice can understand the instant it is heated the oxygen evaporates and nothing is left but a poisonous residue."

"But to return to the formula: Ask any chemist of standing what Dr. Hirschfelder really obtained after he has completed this elaborate menu. They will tell you, after making the test, that the result is—what? Fifth. Without a single medicinal property—fifth, which is a poison in itself, and to put it into the human system is a crime. It is on a par with a number of nauseating and disgusting compounds and antitoxins, which are being administered and injected daily to suffering pulmonary troubles by doctors who follow the compounds without having the ability to test for themselves, or to know the danger of the poisons they are using. Dr. Hirschfelder may have convinced the faculty of Cooper College, but it is safe to say that if the faculty has given the formula, as printed its approval it has taken Dr. Hirschfelder's word for everything without investigation."

FOR FREE DISTRIBUTION.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 31.—It is proposed by the Cooper Medical College and persons who are convinced of the efficacy of Dr. Hirschfelder's oxyterculin in the treatment of consumption to manufacture the compound for free distribution. No definite plans have been decided upon, but it is thought that the best channels of distribution will be the health departments of the cities and public hospitals.

Dr. Hirschfelder has given his sanction to the movement, and will reserve no proprietary rights. Dr. Kelly of the Chicago health department has written to Dr. Hirschfelder, stating that he hopes soon to have the consumption cure for the benefit of the poor of that city.

UNIVERSITY STAKE THE FEATURE OF TODAY'S CARD.

Good Sport with Hares and Hounds at Ingleside and Sacramento. Two Good Baseball Games. A Road Race.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 31.—The racing season for 1897-98, which begins tomorrow at Ingleside, promises to be an exceptionally brilliant one. At a rough estimate there are at least 500 horses ready to start, including about 100 from the East, and many more are headed westward, so that there will be no lack of horses, and the class will be as good, if not better, than last season, which is saying a good deal.

Everything is in readiness for the barrier to fly up on the opening event of the first day's sport, and as some $30,000 have been expended between seasons, race-goers will probably find many improvements, both in the grounds and accommodations.

The hotel corridors were crowded last evening with horsemen, bookmakers and race track habitués from all over the country, and the interest displayed in the meeting is keener than ever before. Several hundred people were present at the track early this morning, and during the afternoon thousands drove out to the track and inspected the arrangements, and such of the equine celebrities as were on view in their stalls.

The judges' stand will be occupied by Joseph A. Murphy, J. W. Wilson and Harry Kuhl, while James F. Caldwell, the "prince of starters" will do the starting, and for the first time on a regular racing day at Ingleside, will use the recall system.

The card for the opening day is a fairly attractive one. The feature is the University stake at one mile, for which the horses which promises to result in an interesting contest.

RULES RESCINDED.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 31.—The Pacific Coast Jockey Club today received telegraphic instructions from Secretary of the United States, to rescind the rules of the club, and to allow racing at Aqueduct, and stating that the objectionable rules will be "dropped," as they were never intended to cover tracks conforming with Jockey Club rules.

Eight Thousand of Them See Good Sport at San Francisco.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 31.—The 8000 baseball enthusiasts who assembled at the new Recreation Park to witness the Oakland Reliance and the Olympics of San Francisco to battle, were treated to a happy surprise by the management announcing that the crack Fresno team would play the winning game after the regular game was finished.

The Fresno's withdrew from the Central Park League and joined the California State League, alleging prejudicial decisions of the former's umpires.

The first game was won by the Olympics by a score of 5 to 3. Wheeler, for the Olympics, pitched a brilliant game up to the eighth inning, shutting the Reliance out, but in the ninth he broke down completely. He gave six men in the ninth, and the Reliance won the game. He made during the game, after which he recovered his old form and retired the side before further damage could be done. Somebody Carried Away the Cash Register While the Mixologist Slept—Robbery Netted the Thief a Good Round Sum.

[BY THE TIMES SPECIAL WIRE.]

WILLIAMS (Ariz.), Oct. 31.—[Special Dispatch.] One of the most daring robberies which has occurred in Arizona for years took place this morning. The scene of the robbery was John Jones' saloon. Yesterday being Saturday, business was brisk. Along toward morning the night mixologist, Lon Sanders, became tired and hid himself in a back room. About 5:50 o'clock George Baumgartner, the day mixologist, appeared for duty. He noticed the cash register was not behind the bar; he awoke Lon Sanders and asked him where the register was. Lon thought it a joke and looked around. He then saw that some one had taken the register while he was taking his nap. A search was made and the register was found several hundred feet away in the rear of A. Johnson's wholesale liquor house and rifled of the contents to the extent of $203.

The culprits in their haste overtook him and ran off with the register, silver and checks. Deputy Sheriff Collett was soon on the scene, but as yet not the least clue can be found.

HORSE

Outdoor sports for the coming winter will in all probability consist of football and baseball.

The promised golf club and coursing seem to exist only in promises. A few feeble efforts have been made to organize a golf club, but it seems impossible to awaken any enthusiasm among the young folks. The game, probably, promises too much hard work.

As to coursing, as was remarked in these columns several weeks ago, there are no dogs belonging here fit for the work, and to maintain the sport prizes sufficient to pay owners of hounds from abroad to bring their dogs here would have to be offered. The ideal coursing ground if the hare and hounds were here.

Tennis is over for the winter, apparently, and most of the courts are being left to the weather to ruin. This is most unfortunate, as the courts are best left to the weather to ruin. This is most unfortunate, as the courts are best left to the weather to ruin.

There is some talk of organizing a fencing class among the ladies and gentlemen of the city. It is at once a fascinating and healthful sport, and should receive encouragement. There are several competent fencing teachers in the city who would be glad to undertake the instruction of a class. Just a word to the ladies in this connection.

One course in fencing will lend more grace of movement to the body and limbs than all the Desarte movements ever invented. In the East and Europe fencing is the chief indoor sport for both sexes.

There is some talk of building a handball court under cover for winter work. It is surprising that this has not been done before. Athletics everywhere admit that handball playing is the best possible exercise to give a man both strength, wind and agility. There is nothing rough about the sport and no danger of persons injuring themselves in playing the game, providing the court is properly laid.

Racing is over until next spring, when Tom Williams, proprietor of the California Jockey Club, proposes to give a two-weeks' running meeting here after the close of the races at Oakland and Ingleside tracks. He expects to catch the running horses on their way to the eastern tracks, and if he can get the big string Williams should be able to give a most successful meeting, as the horses will be in splendid condition after the season's work.

The bicycle races programmed for Thanksgiving day have been given up. None of the riders have been able to practice for contests of speed, and the public patronage in the past has not been such as to warrant the bringing of any of the crack riders from abroad to this city for a one-day's race. Road running is growing in favor, and a number of century spins have been taken by the wheelmen lately. An attempt has been made to beat record time, the runs being merely for pleasure.

Hunters complain of the scarcity of valley quail. They say that at the opening of the season everybody and their dog went hunting, with the result that the birds have been shot and the high foothills. Those who have the time to make a trip to the mountains report good shooting. The birds are scarce, however, and the past summer having been an exceptional one for feed. During the past week reports have been received relative to parties hunting deer in the mountains. The season closed on October 15, and hunters knowing of violations of the deer law should report the same to the authorities. The deer are scarce enough as it is.

Nearly a thousand people witnessed the tournament baseball games between the Echoes and Santa Ana Regiments and the Echoes and Tribes at Fiesta Park yesterday afternoon. Both games were well played, although the contest between the Echoes and Tribes was much more scientific than the preceding game.

The seventh regiment boys are either under bad management, or they cannot play ball. Yesterday's game was the poorest put-up by them this season. They "fumbled" the easiest balls at the most vital periods of the game, permitting the Echoes to score six runs in the sixth inning. In running the bases the Regiment boys, as a whole, were very "shy." It may be said to their credit, however, that every member of the team makes good showing at the bat. The Echoes played badly in the first game, but better than in the second. They were in the contest with the Tribes could not be asked for by the most exacting "rooter."

The Tribes proved "warmer game" than the Regiments, and the Echoes were not long in satisfying themselves of the fact. In the last half of the second inning the Echoes did the cleverest work of the day. All the bases were full. A hot liner was caught by the left fielder, who threw the ball to second in time to put out a Tribes boy. The ball was running from first. The ball was immediately sent to third, and a third man caught. It was the prettiest play of the day, and the crowd arose and fairly howled approval.

The succeeding three innings were characterized by good playing on both sides, the score standing at the close of the fifth 3 to 2. In the first half of the sixth the Echoes scored three runs, the Tribes being shut out, although they had every base filled.

Umpire Wickham then "called" the game, as the sun had disappeared behind the distant hills, and it was difficult to see the ball. A roar followed from the Tribes, who insisted that at least seven innings be played. The management sustained the umpire, and the Echoes were declared the victors. Members of the Tribes team were loud in their protestations at first, but finally accepted as final the decision of the umpire. The seventh inning was won by two new men. Hopkins, who played center field, was one of them. He put up a good game. Barnes pitched a good game, but had no support. Anderson was blamed for the defeat of the Tribes.

He was too anxious. The following are the scores:

Racing.

From Santa Ana comes all sorts of reports about crooked racing during the meeting just closed. The Santa Ana people have one of the best tracks in the State, and take a pride in keeping up their race meetings, and it is a matter for regret that the judges down there did not do some expelling for life. Several of the horsemen who were known to have done crooked work at the meeting, were caught, and the judges there should have been on the lookout for them. Whenever turfdogs play in with the bookmakers, then the sport is dead.

The trouble here and also at Santa Ana, it seems, was that the crooked work was not checked at the outset. When judges and jockeys pull a runner horse or a driver of a pace or trotting deliberately lays up a heat in a race, they should at once call all bets off and deal with the offender then and there. At Ingleside, Oakland, and any of the great tracks in the East, jockeys and drivers are afraid to do crooked work because they know that if they are caught it means not a penalty fine or a few days' suspension, but expulsion from all race tracks for life. That does a driver or a driver who is in with the bookmakers care for a $50 or a $100 fine? Their pals have probably made that many hundred by their work and can well afford to pay the fines. This thing of coming "out in the country" as they call it, to do crooked work should be stopped. The tracks in the country are under association rules, and the judges have as much power and as far-reaching authority on the judges at Morris Park, Ingleside, or anywhere else. They should exercise it.

The attendance upon the Santa Ana meeting was a disappointment. The class of horses taken there should have drawn better crowds. Next spring it is likely there will be another meeting and if so it will probably be more successful, as the people will know what to expect when they see the entries.

The first eleven will get play enough. Next Saturday they will tackle the San Bernardino team, and will find it about all they want to worry with. The team from Chaffey College will play the varsity eleven on Saturday. The game last Saturday between the Los Angeles High School and St. Vincent College, played on the gridiron of the latter school, was a pretty contest, and was won by the High School team by a score of 10 to 0. ## A Peculiar Remedy.

Something About the New Discovery
for Curing Dyspepsia.

The Rev. P. I. Bell, a highly-esteemed minister residing at Woodport, Cayuga county, N. Y., in a recent letter writes as follows: "There has never been anything that I have taken that has relieved the dyspepsia from which I have suffered for ten years, except the new remedy called Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Since taking them I have had no distress at all after eating, and again
after long years can sleep well. Rev. P. I.
Bell, Woodport, N. Y., formerly Idaho, Colo."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is a remarkable remedy, not only because it is a certain cure
for all forms of indigestion, but because it seems to act as thoroughly in all chronic cases of dyspepsia as well as in mild attacks of indigestion or biliousness. A person has dyspepsia simply because the stomach is overworked, all it wants is a harmless, vegetable remedy to digest the food and thus give it the much-needed rest.

This is the secret of the success of this peculiar remedy. It does not hurt the stomach or how much it digests the food, but Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest the food without the stomach working or not. New life and energy is given not only to the stomach but to every organ and nerve in the body. A trial of this splendid medicine will convince the most skeptical that dyspepsia and all stomach troubles can be cured. The tablets are prepared by the

CRUSHED TO DEATH.

EDWARD SWEENEY RUN DOWN BY A TRACTION CAR.

The Aged Man Was Crushed to Death and Left Lying in the Street Until the Patrol Wagon
Reached Him.

About 9 o'clock last night car No.
116 on the Traction Railway line, J. A.
Wakfield, motorman, R. G. Doyle, conductor, struck an old man named Edward Sweeney, aged 65 years, on the crossing at San Pedro and Third streets, and fatally injured him.

From all accounts the accident was unavoidable, although from the distance which Sweeney was dragged after the car struck him, it must have been running at a high rate of speed
when the accident occurred.

Sweeney was literally crushed to pieces. All of his ribs on the right side were broken, his right shoulder was crushed, his scalp torn loose from his head, a wound four inches in length inflicted just above the right temple, his left ear almost a deced from his head, and he was, in addition, injured internally. Police Surgeon Hag-gan, who attended to the man at the Receiving Hospital, pronounced his injuries fatal.

As soon as the call came to the Central Station, Patrol Driver McKenzie, Sergeant Jeffries, and Robbinson went after the man. They lost no time in going, and when they reached the scene of the accident found Sweeney lying in the street, just where he had been dragged him. Of the scores of people who stood around the man, not one had sense enough to even turn the poor old man over to his face as he lay in the street.

As soon as Sweeney reached the Receiving Hospital and Dr. Hagan had pronounced him injured, Sweeney's wife Bradish went after the motorman of the car. The motorman, who, by the way, has been running a car only one week, saw Sweeney was run down by Pedro on the east side of Third street when he first saw him. He says the car was going slowly, as he had but recently started, and he did not allow passenger to get off. When he saw Sweeney, Motorman Wakfield says, he rang his bell, cut off the current and stopped the car on the brake. But he was unable to stop the car until it had struck and dragged the man almost across the street. Why he, Wakefield, and Doyle, the conductor, did not look after the man they had run down is not explained. They left him lying in the street and went on with their car, even sending in a call for the patrol.

Detective Bradish investigated the accident, and learned that the old man had probably been drinking, and as the motorman claims, did stop on the track in front of the car when the warning bell rang. Under the circumstances, Sweeney was not arrested, the superintendent of the Traction Company giving his personal bond
that the man would be at police headquarters this morning.

Both the superintendent and surgeon of the Traction Company visited Sweeney at the Receiving Hospital, but the man was unable to make any statement.

Sweeney is known to the officers,
having been a county charge for a long time. He has sons and daughters living in San Francisco. Here he earned a precarious livelihood peddling books. At a late hour last night he was slowly dying from internal hemorrhage.

A Tempest in a Teapot.
[Fresno Republican.] Why all this over the charges made by Rev. C. W.
Wendte and John P. Irish against Gov.
Budd? The first would think that they were the first to make them, judging from the indignation of Budd's defenders. When the fact is that they passed hardly a day that some newspaper does not accuse the Governor of having
"put-housed" the State Institutions.

The scandalous conduct of affairs in the Whittier and Lone schools and in the Napa and Agnew asylums never existed during former administrations.
This is rather a late day for the Governor's friends to become hysterical in their defense of him, and to abuse those who criticize his course. Let them keep the only thing in their minds, that the charges are not true. A mere denial does not count. Let us have facts instead of abuse.

ITS WORTHLESS DEEDS OF

Grove Conveys Indefinite Title to

Never Owned.

INDIGNANTLY DENIES WHAT NO-

Considers it a "Vile Charge" to Associate His Name with a Conspiracy That He Says is Above Reproach.

Last Thursday, October 29, The Times published an article concerning the association known as the Land Settlers' League, operating in California, Arizona and New Mexico, wherein it was stated that this company was organized for the purpose of acquiring the Washington wing and legal adviser of the Land Settlers' League. Since then The Times has received some information from Zach Montgomery, adviser of the company and the object for which it was organized, showing that it was organized for the purpose of recruiting a large number of stockholders, and offering, as an inducement, a certificate entitling each member to $100 worth of stock in the company on the payment of $100.

Between the parties paying the money and the company is to the effect, as learned, that each member shall receive a certificate of stock, and in the event of the company's failure, the member shall be entitled to the $100 worth of stock in the company. A further examination of the county records shows that this alleged interest is derived through an agreement between him (Grove) and certain parties, reading as follows:

"This agreement made and entered into the 25th day of March, A. D. 1886, between Francisca Lucia Domec, Maria Celestina Domec, and Francisca
More of the county of Los Angeles,
State of California, parties of the first part, and C. C. Grove of the same place, party of the second part, witness whereof, the said parties of the first part, and C. C. Grove, hereby remise, release and quitclaim unto said party of the second part all the right, title and interest in and to what is known as the Escorpion Rancho, and also the old Es-corpion Rancho or patented El Es-corpion, situated in the county of Los Angeles, State of California, and also undivided half interest of said parties of the first part, and each of them, in and to that certain tract of land situate in said county and State and known as the Ex-Mission of San Fernando. And in consideration of this conveyance
said second party of the second part, C. C. Grove, has agreed to furnish all necessary funds for the prosecution and defense of all necessary suits in order to maintain, enforce and defend the rights of said parties of the first part,
and each of them, in and to said land described, and each of said parties of the first part, and each of them, or may hereafter be prosecuted. Witness our hands and seals this day and year
above written.

SQUATTER TITLE.
The Escorpion ranchos mentioned in this agreement are portions of the entire San Fernando Rancho and are comprised within the latter. The three parties mentioned in the document as parties of the first part are daughters of a Frenchman, the husband of an Indian, who lived on some land situate within the San Fernando Rancho.
Piero Domec, the husband of the said Indian, and in order to obtain some information respecting him a Times reporter called on José Mascarell, living
No. 415 Duane street, Los Angeles, who knew Domec well. José Mascarell is a Frenchman over 80 years of age, and is probably the oldest living member of the family. He has been in the United States for many years, and is a well-known and respected citizen. He was born in 1816, and when 28 years of age came to California, arriving in Los Angeles in 1844, where he died some years ago. He brought with him Pierre Domec, whom he knew in Marseilles. He said he remembered very well the wife of Domec and the three daughters, who were with him when he first came to California. He said that he had never owned any land in the San Fernando Rancho, but he said that the Indian Domec, father of Mrs. Domec, and the other members of the Domec family were always supposed to be only "des squatters." He did not know where the three daughters of Domec were now,
but he said that he had seen one of them for a long time. When informed that Pierre Domec's daughter claimed ownership to the northern half of the San Fernando Ranch as heirs of Domec, the old man shook his head, repeating that he never knew Domec had any title to the land, and that he was sure that he was being misled by a squatter.

DELUSIVE DEEDS.
In the agreement between Domec's daughters and C. C. Grove, it will be observed that the latter is reputed to have acquired an undivided half part of all the right, title and interest in the three former claim to have had in the land in question. When, however, Mr.
Grove conveys to other parties, as explained in the 192 deeds, he made in one day, he is careful to deed them
only "the interest derived from Francis-ca Domec." He does not divest himself of the interests (or supposed inter-sisters. "If, therefore," as an at-

Bonner of West Walnut street celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding on Monday evening, and were the recipients of many elegant souvenirs of the occasion. The Eastern Star members presented a silver service, which was presented by Mrs. George.

The fact is, said George, "that I do not think my name, as it now stands, is a good one to hand over to posterity. I think it would be better to change it to one that would sound better." He said he had thought of changing it to "George Henry."

Mr. Robinson advised him not to make a change in his name, and George seemed to accept the counsel as good, for he said nothing further about it. The manner in which Mr. George spoke of making the change was such special agent, Robinson think he wished to have his name remembered.

And we except none, who can extend greater advantages to the Clothing buyer than we.

What you see of a suit of clothes is made to look at. What you don't see—the insides—is where the wear comes from. We have two lines of Suits in our store right now; the cloth in both is exactly the same thing. One line is $12 and the other is $15. The difference is in the insides—in the wear—in the shape-holding quality.

We make it a particular point to have the inside of every suit we sell just as it should be. That is the reason we are selling clothes to the same men who used to go to a tailor.

COLE KILLS HIMSELF.

AFTER TRYING TO MURDER HIS MISTRESS.

Jealousy Causes a Colored Barber to Take His Life—Narrow Escape of Cole from Jail—His Skull Was Bullet Proof.

About 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon a colored barber named Clarence Benjamin M. Cole shot his paramour, Mattie Pickett, also colored, and then killed himself in a room at No. 129 Vine street. The cause of the tragedy was jealousy.

The weapon used was an old-fashioned building revolver, which in the woman's hand was as deadly as the woman's own teeth. As it was, the bullet, fired at close range, flattened against her skull and then ran down the muscles of her face on the right side and was cut out of her chin at the Receiving Hospital by Police Surgeon Hagan.

Cole's death was instantaneous. He placed the revolver to his right temple and sent the bullet completely through his head.

At the Receiving Hospital the Pickett woman gave the following details of the attempted murder and suicide: "I have been living with Cole about a year," she said. "We had a small room at No. 129 Vine street. He was insanely jealous and threatened me and again to kill me, but I never thought he meant it. One morning I was visiting some friends on Alameda street and Cole came after me. He ordered me to go home, and seeing he was angry, I obeyed him. As soon as I entered our room he grabbed me by the throat and threw me on the floor, at the same time kneeling on me, and putting the pistol in my face. I said 'Don't shoot, Ben, don't.' He replied that he was going to kill me, and then shot me. The pistol did not make a loud report. It was full like, but I knew I was shot, and I fell on my back and ran out of the house screaming for help. As I got to the hallway I heard a second shot. That's all I know about it."

The woman, after her wounds were dressed, was taken to the County Hospital and the body of Cole was taken in charge by the coroner. The man lay on the floor as he fell when he sent the bullet into his brain. There were no signs of a struggle, and the story told by the woman is held by the jury. Cole, as stated, was a barber, and worked in a shop on Second street between Spring and Main. He was a temperate man, and his friends believed he was insane when he committed suicide.

CINCINNATI'S GUEST.

The President Goes to Church and Later Stays for Dinner.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] CINCINNATI, Oct. 31.—President McKinley attended the Walnut Hills Methodist Episcopal Church at the morning services today. The announcement has been made that the doors would open at 10 o'clock for the admission of strangers, but before 10 o'clock a crowd was in waiting at the front door, and by 10:15 o'clock the church was filled with guests. The President and Mrs. McKinley were all filled by church members who had been admitted by a side door through the Sunday-school room.

By 10:20 o'clock every seat was filled and hundreds were compelled to go away disappointed, or content themselves with a glimpse of the Presidential party upon their arrival. President McKinley was accompanied by August Vessel, a prominent member of the church, and by J. G. Schmid of this city. There was disappointment at the failure of Mrs. McKinley to accompany her husband, and it was understood that the condition of her health forbade her attendance.

The services were of the usual order, except possibly some addition to the music.

When the final hymn was announced the President and his party left the church and then avoided the delay that would have been inevitable if they had waited until the close of the services.

During the afternoon there were many callers at the residence of Judge Shields, where the President and Mrs. McKinley guests. The President and Mrs. McKinley left for Canton, where they will remain until after the election, and then go to Pittsburgh.

PUBLIC GRIEF.

estimated that nearly 6000 people were in the hall during the services.

It had been announced that the exercises would begin at 3 o'clock, but the mourners and friends of the family did not arrive until about twenty minutes after the hour. The family and intimate friends occupied the reserved seats on the right hand facing the platform. Young Henry George occupied the seat next to the aisle in the front row, and his mother was beside him. Mrs. George was heavily veiled when she entered the hall, but during the speaking she raised her veil and followed the remarks of each speaker attentively. While showing plainly the strain that she had passed through, Mrs. George maintained her composure with strong fortitude.

The right of Mrs. George were seated the other members of the family and relatives, including Richard George, a son of the philosopher, and his daughter, Miss Anna George. John V. George, a brother of the deceased, and "Uncle" George, who maintained her composure with strong fortitude.

The reserved seats to the left were occupied by the pall-bearers and the ushers. The pall-bearers were: Tom L. Johnson, August Lewis, Andrew McLean, Thomas G. Shearman, Arthur McEwen, Louis E. Post, Jerome O'Neill and Charles Frederic Adams.

The honorary pall-bearers, some of whom sat on the platform, included Mayor Strong of New York, Mayor Wurster of Brooklyn, William J. Abbott, John P. Johnson, John P. Cranford, Charles W. Dayton, George C. Eggleston, Horace White, Edward McHugh, Bolton Hall, John Miller, Charles H. O'Connor, Hennessey, John Swinton, Lawson Purdy, John H. Gardner, A. Van Dusen, J. R. Waters, Mr. Levenson, Frank Stephens and Richard S. Smith.

The committee which had charge of the funeral arrangements included John Brishen Walker, Hamilton Garland, Jack Clarence Harvey and others, who also acted as pall-bearers.

Mayor Strong sat at the center of the platform, and he was surrounded by a number of the most distinguished persons present, including the Mayor, Seth Low, with Col. George E. Waring by his side. Among others present were: John Jerolomon, president of the Board of Aldermen, Mayor Patrick Gleason of Long Island City, E. M. Grout, Nathan Strauss, Sheriff Tamsen and Oscar Strauss.

The exercises began at 3:25 with the singing of the hymn, "Lead, Kindly Light," by the Plymouth Church Quartette. Rev. Dr. Heber Newton, who was Mr. George's warm personal friend, as well as pastor, read the burial service. Dr. Newton did not wear his priestly robes, and he had no reading desk. He stood before the altar, in a way, entirely informal, there being also no responses. It was, however, the regular burial service of the Episcopal Church. The only music rendered in connection with it was the chanting of the Lord's Prayer.

At the conclusion of the burial service, Dr. Lyman Abbott spoke briefly upon the character and public services of Henry George.

Dr. Abbott spoke in his customary manner, calm, critical and judicious, yet with much earnestness. He avoided anything like extreme eulogy, especially as regards Mr. George's political teachings, but his praise for him as a man had no bounds.

He began with the statement that those who agreed in part and disagreed in part with Henry George, and even those who disagreed almost entirely with him, could unite in the expression of their admiration for his character and their love for him as a man.

"What is it to follow Christ?" asked Dr. Abbott. "Is it not to show the spirit of Christ himself? No one, I think, was animated more faithfully toward his teachings than he whose sudden death we are called here to mourn. Many men try to follow him more, I think, than any previous age."

Dr. Abbott also spoke in highest praise of the intellectual side of Henry George. He said Mr. George's mastery of the English language, his ability to put things into the most forcible possible way, and his genius for arousing enthusiasm would have placed him in almost any public life. If he had been content to be merely a politician. But he was not a self-seeking man.

In fact, the speaker said, he had never met a man who gave so little thought as to the effect upon himself and his fortunes of his public utterances as Mr. George. He was a man of unflinching courage, and he had an unquestioning faith that there is a good God, who does not design his children to live in degradation and wretchedness. To something to lift God's children to a better place has been the object of George's life.

Rabbi Gotthel spoke next, saying: "Before the city council is decided in which this brave man staked his life, death has cast his irrevocable vote in favor of him, and crowned him victor over the world. He has won the crown of glory, and will outlast the transient triumphs of the coming battle. It is a race for a worthy manhood and a better life of the kind."

"Friend and foe stand side by side in reverent awe by his lifeless form. In sealing his lips forever, death opens the way for myriads to speak his praise and manifest their gratitude to the man whose thoughts were ever for liberty, justice and humanity."

the eulogy bestowed upon Henry George by Dr. Abbott, as expressing what he thought of him as a friend and brother.

"Henry George's gentle heart," the orator said, "was ready to break because he saw that nothing came from the professors of the schools of political economy which could improve the condition of the people, because the knowledge of those economists was hardly to be considered within the bounds of science at all."

Truly, it was designed by Providence to raise up such a man before the world to expose the fallacy and the injustice of their reasoning.

"Wherever word has gone that Henry George is dead, his teachings live and his voice is heard, though he lies still in death. His works have been read throughout the world, and in every language known in the universe, George speaks to all humanity."

John S. Crosby, who has been one of the most active campaigners for the cause of the poor, and the only layman who spoke, his address dealt more with the duty of the present in accordance with the principles laid down by Henry George, rather than mere eulogy of the dead teacher, and evoked applause even more energetic than the remarks of Dr. McGlynn.

The last address was concluded shortly after 5 o'clock, and the meeting was dismissed with directions from a member of the committee to the manner of dismissal from the hall.

Nearly all those present took advantage of the opportunity offered to view the face of Henry George, and the march past his coffin was continued as it had been in progress during the day.

FUNERAL PROCESSION.

Not Many Followers of the Bler but Countless Spectators.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The procession which accompanied the remains was in many respects the most remarkable ever witnessed in New York.

The catafalque was a magnificent creation of black broadcloth, and at the base was twelve feet wide. There were five steps leading to the top. The horses, of jet black, were covered with black silk mourning and were led by black groomers. The only emblem on the top of the casket was a small white wreath.

The organizations that paid honor to Mr. George by following the funeral car fell into line at the corner of Madison avenue and below Forty-second street. There was some disappointment in the small number of followers, and it was estimated that when the party passed Thirty-fourth street on Madison avenue there were less than 2500 men in line.

There were marks of respect all along the line. Bared heads were the rule on both sides of the street, and many men and women were noticed to be crying. When the open space in front of the hotels on Twenty-third and Twenty-fifth streets was reached, there was an enormous crowd. There were a number of old men who seemed to be greatly interested, for they stood with bared heads from the time the police appeared until nearly all the procession had passed them. When the side of Union Square was reached, the band that had preceded the catafalque fell out of line, and taking a stand on the sidewalk, played a dirge while the remainder of the procession passed.

It was 8 o'clock when the head of the column rounded into Broadway again at Fourteenth street. A great crowd of Henry George worshippers flanked Broadway at Canal street. Here it was also noticed that there was much weeping.

The procession from that point to City Hall Park was without incident, save for a repetition of the scenes of grief which had been manifested along the entire route.

Simple private services will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at the family residence, 140 West 10th street.

Revs. George and Lattimer of Philadelphia, cousins of the deceased, and both Episcopal clergymen, will officiate.

The body will be carried to Greenwood to be interred in the family lot on Ocean Hill, looking out on the Atlantic.

A MARTYR TO HIS CAUSE.

Rev. J. Minot Savage Eulogizes Henry George.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—"An Ideal City" was the subject of the sermon delivered today by Rev. Minot J. Savage in the Church of the Messiah. During his discourse the preacher said that Henry George was a man who through his life consecrated himself to the welfare of the people.

"He poured out to the people," said Dr. Savage, "the sympathy of his heart, as well as his physical strength, and he lived a martyr to his cause. He is a man to hold up for emulation of the magnificent spirit and consecration with which he gave himself to the world, and to his cause."

"We only had 10,000 men who cared half as much for the city's welfare as Henry George did, it would be one of the most glorious cities of the world. We need men who appreciate the importance of making this a glorious city."

LOVED BY ALL MEN.

Dr. Felix Adler Warmly Praises the Dead Economist.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—At the conclusion of an address on "Present Political Conditions" before the Society of Ethical Culture at Carnegie Hall today, Dr. Felix Adler paid a glowing tribute to the memory of Henry George.

"At the point of a great campaign for the people, when the excitement was intense, the weird light of a tragedy illumined the field. His friends and opponents—both high and low—joined in a tribute to his memory. In reviewing his career we recognize three distinct services he rendered to humanity. He did the most of all to spread the message of the two continents realize the problem of poverty. His claim as a writer is secure, and he stood as a great popular leader. An old Greek philosopher, when asked as to whom he considered the happiest man, named a ruler of Athens, who lived as a philosopher in Athens in her glory, who had a family to continue his work where he left off, and who died on the field of battle, just when his army was on the point of achieving a brilliant victory. The same might be said of Henry George. All these conditions apply, and he died in the midst of a great fight for the people whom he loved. In the love of a glorious victory. It was his sincerity that the people loved. They realized his great love for humanity and respected him for it. Whether or not they approved his idea for reconstructing society, they loved and admired the man."

ETHICAL ISSUES.

Rev. Heber Newton Moralizes on the Death of Mr. George.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Rev. Heber Newton preached at All Souls Church today, on "The Ethical Issues before the City." He said: "The tragedy which has befallen our city within the past few hours ought to decide the issues in the heart of every honest man. A great mind, a noble-hearted man has fallen a martyr to the city's liberties, the city's honor. Conscience of his physical weakness, yet following the call of the city to him, he plunged into the thick of the fight regardless of himself, though with the presentiment on his soul which he expressed in that pathetic word of his Cooper Union address: 'I accept your nomination and will remain in the fight to the end, though I die in it.'"

"Of all that I have said as to the ethical aspects of the issues, he was the living embodiment. The intense earnestness of his moral nature led him to plunge almost recklessly into the battle for the people's rights and liberties. He could not be apathetic. He could not be indifferent when the fate of a city of 3,000,000 souls hung in the balance. This intense earnestness was one secret of his strange power over the masses of men."

HIS FATHER'S SON.

Young Henry George Accepts His Father's Responsibilities.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Henry George, son and successor of the late Henry George, has issued the following statement:

"I am an affectionate son of a most loving father. Between us has subsisted the closest companionship. I have a clear understanding of, and a profound admiration for all that he has said and done. A man has but one life here to live. I solemnly dedicate mine to the cause to which he has given his. If he has acted to the exalted office of Mayor of Greater New York, I shall hold myself pledged to fulfill every condition and promise made by him, and most especially shall I bring swift justice upon those public thieves and corruptionists who for so long have flattered their deeds in the face of the common people whom they have insulted and robbed."

"To all the world I proclaim this: My father's work as he planned and pursued it, shall be carried forward without faltering or swerving. Let all who took hope at the sight of his standard keep heart, and follow, it presses on, and shall press on and on, while life is left."

AT SAN FRANCISCO.

Single-taxers Hold Memorial Services for Their Dead Leader.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 31.—Metropolitan Temple was crowded at noon today for the memorial services for Henry George, held under the auspices of the Single Tax Society. President Manzer of that organization was chairman of the meeting. Miss McCloskey, a cousin of Henry George, sang "Flee as a Bird," said to be a favorite composition of the deceased. Other eulogistic addresses were made by James H. Barry, editor of the Star; P. J. Healy and Chairman Manzer, the latter dismissing the audience with a substitute for the orthodox benediction.
